Outside Fenced Areas

State law requires that parents give permission for their child (who is always supervised) to walk or play outside fenced areas. Some classrooms have doors that open directly to fenced playgrounds. However, that is not the case with all classrooms. Therefore, this parental consent is required.

Classes at The Jewish Preschool on Sardis walk to playgrounds, take nature walks, and have "fun activities" around the campus that may be outside fenced areas. (walking from classroom to playground)

I give permission for my child to walk or play outside the fenced areas.
